

CNS Mentoring

I get it--I have been there...

Sometimes as a CNS it feels like we are swimming in a very large sea of water all by ourselves with no other CNSs in sight! If you are like me, you might even have noticed that you are the only CNS in your immediate geographical location!

While our credential is growing, we can feel isolated, especially when we are self-employed or maybe the only CNS in a clinical setting.

I remember sitting alone in my office many years ago, scratching my head about the next steps I needed to take for a complex clinical case. I reviewed textbooks, lecture notes, PubMed...but I still had questions.

I turned to my mentor---and within just a few minutes, he was able to help me find clarity and provided some suggestions on my next steps. In all fairness, I think I knew the next steps, but it really helped to talk it out with someone who had more experience under their belt to help confirm my thoughts.

After this experience, I was never shy to reach out again. Sometimes I just needed to hear I was on the right track and other times I really needed someone's experience to help guide me.

I am delighted to offer individual mentoring sessions to other CNSs to provide some of the same guiding light I have been provided over the years.

I look forward to connecting.

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Dr. Kim Ross". The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style.

CNS Virtual Office Hours

Features

As Needed

Request a meeting whenever you need it.
No commitments/requirements

Remote

Meetings are held virtually

Flexible

We can use our time together that is most beneficial for you!

Virtual Office Hours can be used for

- Feedback and/or recommendations for client care
- Suggestions on resources for clinical care
- Suggestions for continuing education and growth
- Weighing out the pros and cons of advanced educational opportunities
- General collaboration between clinicians

Requirements

1. Request a session by visiting: <https://l.btrr.to/yic26>
2. After booking,
 - a. You will be invited to create a profile on Practice Better (a HIPAA-compliant platform operated by Kim Ross Consulting LLC dba Ross Nutrition Team)*
 - b. A form will be sent to you for completion regarding the reason for the session. If it is something I don't think I can assist with, I will let you know so I don't waste your time (or money)!
3. If there are supporting documents you would like to share, you will be able to do so in your client portal created on the Practice Better platform.

*If you use Practice Better as a clinician, please be sure to sign up using a personal email as to avoid any confusion with your own Practice Better account.

Pricing: $125 per 60-minute session

www.kimrossconsulting.com

Copyright 2025 Kim Ross Consulting LLC